

Chapter 1: Apple Fruit Basics

Apple is a common fruit belonging to the Rosaceae family.

It is rich in vitamin C and dietary fiber.

Key nutrients: water, carbohydrates, fructose, glucose.

Apples contain about 52 calories per 100 grams.

Chapter 2: Pear Fruit Characteristics

Pear also belongs to the Rosaceae family but different genus.

Pears have high water content and crisp texture.

Key types: White Pear, Autumn Pear, Sand Pear systems.

Pears contain about 42 calories per 100 grams.

Chapter 3: Apple vs Pear Comparison

Both fruits belong to Rosaceae but are in different genera.

Apple has malic acid giving sweet-sour taste.

Pear has stone cells giving sandy-crisp texture.

Hint: Build a knowledge graph connecting Apple and Pear.

Include nutrients, classification, and health benefits.